2013 is a big year for Casino Enterprise Management and we have many exciting milestones, new offerings and initiatives to share with you! One that we are most excited about is the celebration of our 10-year anniversary. Can you believe our very first issue debuted 10 years ago in January 2003? Boy, have we evolved. Looking back at our history, we are so proud of where we came from and what we are today.

Many of our initial contributors still work with us today, and we are so grateful for their continued support. But what's most exciting is how much we've grown. We debut new articles from new authors almost every month, and our editorial advisory board is always growing.

While we've witnessed significant changes in the industry and our publication throughout these 10 years, our core values and goals are the same as they were back in 2003. We're committed to producing the very best gaming industry trade journal out there and bringing you news you can use. We do this by running articles from the best-thought leaders in our industry who provide practical advice and best practice tips.

As you likely noticed, the platforms by which we do this have grown with us. Now, beyond the pages of our print magazine, we are so excited to offer best-of-breed content in many other ways. From our CEM Audio Edge Internet talk radio station, to our educational and newsworthy video coverage, to our comprehensive website and social media channels, our readers, listeners, viewers and fans can find us virtually everywhere.

CEM Audio Edge started out strong and only continues to grow. We started doing regular podcasts in 2010, and in 2011 we upgraded our offering to a live show that allows for listeners to call in and ask our guests questions. Audio Edge offers a variety of shows each week, and we are excited to announce that we are expanding our programming in 2013 with a show specific to new slot titles, as well as a show dedicated solely to one of the hottest topics in the industry today—i-gaming. In 2011, we also introduced two special guest hosts in addition to our own staff-hosted shows. Brooke Dunn and Valerie Red-Horse each have their own monthly show called Casino Talk and Native American Gaming, respectively, during which they bring you the latest news and analysis of the industry's hottest issues. Both are experts themselves, and we're thrilled they've chosen to work with us to get their message across to our audience.

One initiative we're particularly proud of here at CEM is the series of awards we host. The first, our Great Women of Gaming—where we recognize the outstanding achievements of women in the gaming industry—was a smash success from the beginning, and has continued to be since its creation. Shortly after was our Slot Floor Technology Awards, used to honor innovative and new products for the slot floor; this continued every year. We evolved throughout the years to then launch two more series, one for the hospitality industry and another for table games. We also do a special award series called the Indian Gaming Advocate of the Year, which is done in conjunction with Ernie Stevens Jr. of the National Indian Gaming Association, to recognize a leader in tribal gaming. You can continue to look to us to find out about the best products and people in our industry.

We're not sure exactly what's in the cards for the industry down the road, but we are positive you can expect much more from us regardless of what happens. We also want you to be part of our future with any content or insight you have. So if you've got a great idea, help shape CEM's future and give us a call today to tell us about it.

In 10 more years, we are sure we'll have much more exciting things to reflect on, so stay tuned. Thanks to all who have worked with us over the last decade and will continue to do so in the next one. It's been a wonderful ride so far and we very much look forward to letting the good times roll!

Thomas Jingoli, President, AGEM, and Chief Compliance Officer, Konami Gaming

"The partnership between AGEM and Casino Enterprise Management has helped our organization and the more than 110 AGEM members tell a collective story about the important impact suppliers have on the global gaming industry. CEM's staff is knowledgeable about the issues affecting our side of the business and motivated to tell our story in the magazine, online and at CEM-organized events."

Marcus Prater, Executive Director, AGEM

"AGEM and CEM have a strong partnership because we believe in the quality of the magazine, the strength of the staff and the extras that help us spread the AGEM message. AGEM and our 110-plus members from all over the world rely on CEM for information, perspective and insight not found anywhere else. We appreciate the overall commitment Peter Mead and his staff have when it comes to covering and celebrating the gaming industry. And we are thankful for the extraordinary coverage every month of our organization and AGEM's member companies."

In my role, it is important that I keep up to speed with what goes on across our industry. That is not an easy task given the size and scope of our business. There are many publications in which you can read about the gaming industry, some of which provide more value than others. I turn to Casino Enterprise Management (CEM) and have done so since its inception given its timeliness, accuracy and relevance of what it provides. In my career I have also partnered with CEM and have found them to be a great ally when it comes to advertising, promotion and getting across a point of view. CEM is a trusted and loyal partner to the gaming industry.

WEB DEMOGRAPHICS

The best part about advertising on our website is the 11,000 unique visitors that come to our site each month. They are industry leaders looking for information that will impact buying decisions. We averaged 230 web visitors a day in 2010. That number is now 500.

On average, 4,200 unique visitors stop by our website each week from 190 different countries.

Our digital edition is viewed by an average of more than 400 people each month. And they must be enjoying their visits as they view an average of 30 pages. Our editorial videos attracted an average of 1,220 views each month in 2011. We've always had top-notch content and production quality, and the industry is starting to take advantage of that by viewing our videos more and more each month. Our CEM Audio Edge programming, made up of live shows and recorded podcasts, is also gaining popularity. We tracked an average of 1,025 show listens a month in 2011.

We have various advertising options available on our websites and digital edition. Advertisers can utilize animation and flash graphics as well as traditional banner and button ads. Web ads can be purchased for placement on our main website, www.CasinoEnterpriseManagement.com and on our Internet talk radio site, www.CEMAudioEdge.com. Please see the information about web advertising on the following pages or contact a sales representative for more information.

As I write this, school is just back in session all over the United States, but I know that CEM never takes a vacation. Many in the industry know that when they pick up the magazine it will be full of useful knowledge without the fluff so their time is well spent, and they look forward to next month's issue. Some would say that there is a lot of competition out there trying to get the readers' attention, but once you have read CEM there is little truth in that as CEM is the only competition. Cutting-edge is not just a word to CEM. Visit their website and you will be impressed with all this company has to offer. CEM is not just a magazine, but a full-service gaming industry pool of knowledge one can dive into. Great job folks!

E-MAIL MARKETING

The ACEME e-mail database is made up of casino managers and gaming executives worldwide. The list is a compilation of many in-house data gathering efforts, including the CEM subscriber database, ACEME Events attendee lists, ACEME call center programs and www.CasinoEnterpriseManagement.com registrants. The list is constantly being worked and includes approximately 12,100 individuals. E-mail blasts are sent in the early morning hours on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays to ensure the highest open rates possible.

Rate

The rate is 25 cents per delivered e-mail. The number will fluctuate based on our current database, but the approximate count is 12,100, costing $3,025.

Artwork

Design services are offered at an hourly rate of $150. If you choose to design your own e-mail marketing pieces, please adhere to the following to ensure the best delivery and appearance:

- Banners, navigation bars and high-priority content should appear near the top of your e-mail. Preview panes typically include the top 300 pixels of the e-mail.
- Use basic HTML. We prefer no use of scripting, embeds, frames, image maps or attachments. Your important content should not appear only in images.
- HTML templates should be no wider than 700 pixels.
- Use tables. We recommend stacked table structure.
- No JavaScript.
- Do not use forms unless absolutely necessary.
- Images should be 72 dpi with their height and width both defined. Use absolute paths.
- Do not use flash or other plug-ins. Link to a hosted landing page if you would like recipients to view plug-in content.
- For plain text e-mails, wrap up the text after 65 characters.
- All featured content should appear in the top 420 pixels of the e-mail.

Before submitting to us, test your template by sending it to as many different e-mail accounts and e-mail programs as possible to ensure it appears as you would like it to. We will also send you a test before it goes out to make sure it is correct.

Our average number of listens per month has increased significantly from 2011 to 2012, and is now at more than 2,000 listens per month. Plus, the option to listen live has become increasingly popular among listeners!

Our shows air live and are also available on demand online and on iTunes. Live shows allow listeners to interact with our distinguished guests and ask their own questions. Our listeners have almost every option imaginable—listening live at their desk or at home, while driving in the car by using their smartphone or iPad, or listening to the podcast whenever they please.

In 2011, we introduced two new guest hosts to our talk radio lineup, and they've become the hosts of some of our most popular shows. Valerie Red-Horse hosts a monthly show focused on news, issues and trends in Native American gaming. She covers various aspects of the tribal gaming industry and helps educate listeners by interviewing industry leaders who provide analysis, updates and insight.

Brooke Dunn also hosts a unique show, full of robust information and always a few laughs. Through this show, we offer the industry candid and intelligent conversations with industry leaders. We cover a wide variety of topics, and offer the details our audience might not find anywhere else.

Our Internet talk radio station is available at www.CEMAudioEdge.com. This site allows listeners to view a up-to-date lineup of upcoming shows, listen to past shows on demand and chat with show hosts during live shows. We encourage you to visit the site, learn more about our programming, listen live or whenever you have time, and participate in our live shows.

Supporting Content with Audio Ads

Research shows that both hearing and seeing an advertisement significantly increases product and brand recall. In fact, one study says that users who listen to Internet radio are twice as likely as Internet-only users to respond to an online ad. Imagine listeners hearing your company's name during the live show, then immediately afterward seeing a visual ad with your contact information.

There are many options for your company to advertise with us on CEM Audio Edge. From a fully sponsored episode or series to a live read by the host, we can help you get the word out using audio advertising.

In 2012, Edison Research noted that monthly online radio reaches four in 10 Americans, or an estimated 103 million Americans per month. With so many options for new and entertainment today, we are offering gaming industry professions a unique place to go to get the information they want and need in a format that works for them.

Support our content today by advertising during our shows, and get your company's name on the air!

Casino Enterprise Management is the go-to magazine for industry news. Their comprehensive coverage of all aspects of the gaming industry, particularly tribal government gaming, is a resource I could not do without. Add that to the online programs, live talk shows and blogs, and you can get the most up-to-date information available. Thanks Peter, and all your staff, for putting out such a professional and intelligent publication.

There are many sources of information in the gaming industry today, and in a variety of formats. CEM is special and stands above many other sources in three ways. First, it has a strong presence in a number of these media. Their online and print articles tap into expert perspectives and are very well-written, and I particularly enjoy their Audio Edge shows. Second, their information is consistently timely and well-researched. They cover the most important emerging issues in dozens of international marketplaces. Finally, and perhaps most importantly, their contributors manage to give a broad overview and, at the same time, key details about emerging legislation, products and thoughts. Their ability to provide the big picture and the nitty-gritty is critical to a comprehensive understanding in gaming. Thanks for the great work, folks, and please keep it up.

President, Power Strategies

Casino Enterprise Management is my go-to source for gaming industry information. Through the articles, profiles and even the advertisements, I am able to easily keep up on new trends and happenings across the worldwide gaming marketplace. I have enjoyed writing articles for CEM over the years, exploring a diverse range of topics relevant to casino operations and information technology. CEM provides me the opportunity to share my knowledge and interact with their subscribers. I was privileged this year to receive CEM's Great Women of Gaming award as a proven leader and it is such an honor to be recognized by my peers and share my insights with the CEM readers. I love that I can read the digital versions each month while I'm on the road to stay connected to the industry as a whole.

Martin Storm
President and CEO, BMM

In 2012, BMM established a comprehensive marketing plan to brand its capabilities in the U.S. As part of this program, we decided to increase industry media coverage significantly. After discussing our goals with Peter Mead and CEM, they worked very closely with us to customize a campaign that covered not only advertising, but also editorial, video and radio. Their understanding of the industry and experience with multimedia and online marketing channels was particularly impressive and a real boost for our reach. The professionalism of the whole CEM team and their eagerness to work with us across all levels has been invaluable in helping BMM increase its visibility within the industry. More importantly, CEM's insight and perspective on the gaming industry is a great resource for manufacturers, regulators and operators—and this, in my opinion, makes CEM one of the leading gaming industry publications in the world.

Notes

a special thanks to russell mitchell and exile cycles

Russell Mitchell is the president of Exile Cycles, now in its 18th year of doing business. The company has grown from its modest beginnings into a multi-million dollar corporation. Today, Exile Cycles manufactures and sells nearly every conceivable part of a motorcycle. Exile still produces a handful of complete custom bikes each year, and these machines have been featured in hundreds of magazine articles and TV specials around the globe. Exile Cycles are instantly recognizable for their clean, tough, industrial styling. They are like a breath of fresh air amidst the mass of over-painted, over-chromed customs that have so long been the standard in the US. The good news is that the minimalist styling that has always been popular in Europe is now catching on fast in the US, and Exile Cycles is leading the charge. In fact, Russell has been preaching this styling ethic from his soapbox for so long he virtually has a monopoly on it.

Again a very special thanks to Russell Mitchell and Exile Cycles for the privilege to use their custom works of art in our 2013 Media Kit. Russell can be contacted at (818) 255-3300 or www.exilecycles.com

Sincerely,
